DEMOCRATS PLEASED By the Nomination of Hovey in Indiana.

HON. MR. CANDLER ON THE TARIFF.

The Republicans and North Carolina —
Northern Correspondents to Come South — Other News.

WASHINGTON., August 9.—[Special.]—It seems that the republicans are laboring under the delusion that by a little work and the liberal use of money they can carry North Carolina for the republican ticket this fall. At any rate, they are trying their best, and the political committee of the democratic convention is firmly decided to nominate Gear, of Iowa, and Perkins, of Kansas, to go to the monthly North Carolina fair and preach republican doctrines to the farmers. Both these men are from agricultural districts, and hence their selection. The democratic members from that state have no fears, whatever, of the republicans carrying it.

IT PLEASES THE DEMOCRATS.
The nomination of Representative Hovey by the republicans as their candidate for governor of Indiana pleased the democratic members from that state very much. Representative Hovey said today that while Hovey was as strong as his party, he did not think the republicans were yet sufficiently confident of democratic success, and was confirmed in this by the action of the workingmen of the state, who are going against the republican ticket. Mr. Bynum thinks the refusal of Portes to run weakens the ticket.

Mr. Hovey has made no reputation whatever in Congress. He will make the race entirely upon his war record, which is said to be good. However, the democrats now seem more confident than ever of carrying the state.

RIVERS AND HARBOURS.
The time which the president has to consider the river and harbor bill, and either affix his signature or veto it, expires on Saturday. However, as the house will adjourn over the memorial day weekend, a recess of General Sheridan's funeral, the bill will in all probability be returned tomorrow. It seems there will be no fear of a veto, and account for the delay on the grounds that the president has submitted the bill to Colonel Casey, chief of engineers. It is understood tonight that Colonel Casey returned the bill to the president with his approval this afternoon, and that it will be properly signed and returned to the house tomorrow.

MR. CANDLER TALKS TARIFF.
The Critic, of this afternoon, quotes Mr. Candler, of Georgia, as saying "that if the senate tariff bill reduced duties on other articles in proportion to the reduction on sugar and rice, and repealed the internal revenue tax on tobacco and fruit brandy the senate bill would pass the house, and he would vote for it."

GENERAL BENTON WILL COME, TOO.
General Boynton, an old union soldier, now the Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial-Gazette, will go down to the Chautauqua with Mr. McKinley, for the purpose of writing his paper a full account of the trip and of Mr. McKinley's reception by the people of Georgia. It is also said here that many other leading northern papers will send special correspondents to Atlanta on the occasion of Mr. McKinley's visit.

MR. TURNER'S SPEECH.
Mr. Turner made quite an able argument this afternoon in opposition to the payment of the French spoliation claims. On account of the importance of the speech was delivered to only a very few persons.

Colonel George T. Fry and Mr. J. A. Bradley, of Atlanta, are here.

Judge Crisp carried Mr. and Mrs. Hooks, of Atlanta, up to see the president this morning.

THE SENATE'S WORK.

Efforts to Clear the Calendar for the Tariff Debate.

WASHINGTON, August 9.—Senator Sherman has sent a circular note to the republican senators asking each if there are any measures pending before the senate in which he is especially interested and upon which he desires action during this session. The recipients are requested to reply to the committee on order of business.

It is understood to be the intention of the committee to provide for clearing the calendar of important business before the tariff bill is brought into the senate.

General Casey, chief of engineers, today finished consideration of the river and harbor appropriation bill referred to him by the president, and returned it, with a report thereon, to the president this afternoon. It reached the white house during the cabinet session and formed one of the topics of discussion. The ten day limit for action on the bill expires Saturday.

After the passage of several bills on the calendar, the senate at 11:45 proceeded to the consideration of the river and harbor treaty, to open executive session, and Mr. Evans assumed a seat.

THE TRADE EFFECTED

And the Macon Telegraph Will Change Hands.

Colonel Estill, of Savannah, Purchases the Paper—No Change to be Made in the Policy of the Paper.

MACON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—Negotiations have been pending several days between Colonel J. H. Estill, proprietor of the Savannah Morning News, and Charles E. Campbell, manager of the Macon Telegraph, relative to the purchase of the Telegraph by Colonel Estill. Last night Colonel Estill stepped in Macon en route to Savannah from the gubernatorial convention and consummated the trade. He will return to Macon tomorrow, when the transfer of the Telegraph will be made to him and Manager Campbell will retire.

THE EDITORIAL MANAGEMENT.

It is said Colonel Estill makes the purchase simply as a business investment. No political significance is attached to the transaction. Nothing is known here who will be the business manager. The tariff reform and democratic policy of the paper remain the same. It is understood Henry Richardson will continue editor-in-chief and the present editorial corps retained.

The public is glad there will be no change of policy and that the paper will continue in thorough accord with President Cleveland's administration.

IMPROVEMENTS TO BE MADE.

Nothing beyond the above facts can be learned until the arrival of Colonel Estill tomorrow. The people have perfect confidence in Colonel Estill's ability to manage the paper successfully, and that it will be brought to a high standard, typographical excellence, news service increased and general improvement made. It is thought a fine job office will be established in connection with the paper and special effort made to improve the Weekly Telegraph and increase its circulation. It is conceded that the ownership of both the Savannah News and Macon Telegraph, coupled with the position of president of the Georgia Press association, will make Colonel Estill a leading figure in Georgia politics and give him great prestige and influence in state affairs. The price paid for the Telegraph is variously estimated from twenty-seven to thirty-five thousand dollars.

COWETA'S CONVENTION.

A Little Excitement and Several Resolutions Tabbed.

NEWNAN, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—The Coweta democratic convention met today to nominate delegates to the congressional and senatorial convention, which meet respectively August 11th and September 13th. Everything passed off smoothly until Colonel Brewster offered a resolution endorsing the record of Mr. Grimes. Mr. Berrie Barker, of Newnan, made a stirring speech in favor of Taylor and a homely canary and denouncing the methods of Thomas Grimes. The excited ran high and Brewster was forced to withdraw his resolution.

In the senatorial business a resolution was introduced stating that the democratic party of Coweta would support no state senator unless he would pledge himself to vote for Alfred H. Colquitt for United States senator and abolishing the state agricultural bureau. This resolution was finally tabled after a hot fight.

A resolution endorsing Mr. Ballard for the state senate from Campbell was voted down. A resolution by Editor Brown, of the Herald, indorsing Major Wm. A. Turner, candidate for the judgeship of the Coweta circuit, created another heated controversy, but the resolution was finally adopted, omitting the clause requesting Coweta's representatives and the senator from this district to support him. The entire proceedings of the convention is a mystery and no one seems to know why the discord.

TO LEAD A FORLORN HOPE.

Dalton to Furnish the Republican Candidate for Governor.

From the Dalton Citizen.

It is quite likely that the man who will lead the republicans to defeat in Georgia this year will come from Dalton.

THE VETERANS AT MADISON.

The City Fall of the Old Soldiers—They are Royally Entertained.

MADISON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—At the dawn of day streams of wagons, buggies and every other vehicle imaginable began pouring into the streets of Madison from surrounding counties, and soon standing room only could be found. The business portion of the town, Railroad street and the reunion grounds contained one surging mass of humanity.

Promptly at 8:30 the loud report of the canon announced the hour for old veterans to fall into line. After a salut of ten guns the Bearden Bros. brass band struck up a lively air in the courthouse and immediately the crowd surged in that direction. The band headed the procession followed by Captain C. W. Baldwin, head of the day, after which came the Madison Home Guards, Captain W. S. McHenry commanding. The Home Guards were followed by six hundred veterans headed by Colonel Clifton Sneed, last colonel of the old Third Georgia regiment. Colonel Sneed bore the old flat-top flag of the regiment, which though tattered and torn, is still dear to each member of this grand old band. As the eyes of the old soldiers fell on the flag many of them wept like children.

The old veterans were followed in the line of march by all the old negro foragers in the county. Arriving at the grounds, the procession halted in front of the speakers' stand, and the old soldiers were given seats in front of the stand. The speakers' stand was beautifully decorated with flowers by the ladies of the city. In front two beautiful national flags floated in the breeze, and in the center the old battle flag was placed.

Hon. O. S. Burney then introduced Rev. John F. Cheney, chaplain of the regiment, who offered a very appropriate prayer. Then followed the reading of letters from distinguished soldiers who were unable to attend by Colonel Clifton Sneed. After this the band played a lively air, followed by Sergeant C. E. Williams, a beautiful address of welcome in behalf of commandant.

He was responded to in a most charming speech by Miss Lizzie Sneed, the lovely "daughter of the regiment."

Rev. Samuel A. Burney, noted for his oratory, more than sustained his reputation today in his address of welcome in behalf of the old soldiers of Morgan county. Colonel R. B. Nesbit responded in a most happy style, which was followed by music. Colonel Clifton Sneed, orator of the day, made one of the grandest speeches ever delivered in Georgia. He commanded the regiment at the surrender, and the old soldiers all love him. He was loudly cheered. Colonel Sneed was followed by impromptu speeches from old soldiers. After the exercises were over dinner was announced, and the crowd of 10,000 people repaired to the tables where a most bountiful repast of barbecue'd meats and every good thing imaginable was served. All seemed to fare sumptuously, and plenty remained for the colored people. A more orderly crowd of people was never seen in Madison. Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of any one.

One of the most touching incidents of the day was the presentation of a handsome set of silver to Commodore Dexter, of this city, by the members of the regiment as reward for his faithful services during this reunion.

The Madisonian was issued as a daily, and today's issue was a marvel of neatness, being printed on red, white and blue, and contained each speech as it fell from the lips of the speakers.

Though an ingenious and diabolical scheme purports to make it appear that young Dupont has for months been holding high carnival in the bank of night, and has gambled of the bank's thousands. Dupont became terrified and fled. At date of our narrative the Carril and Bellamy families are still in the city. As young Dupont wandered on the wharf at New Orleans, willing to toss himself in the raging waves below, he gives way to his intense feelings and sings a most pathetic song, describing his first happiness and his present appalling predicament. The song is well known to several rough seafaring men who at once strike an acquaintance with the new comer. They prove to be pirates. They propose to Dupont that he join them. In a spirit of intimidation they suppress, and then consent to have him wear their arrest when they reached town. He remained true to his word, but got more than he bargained for, as the Selps in retaliation for their arrest had Roberts taken on the warrant as before said. Mr. Roberts paid the sum of one hundred dollars to stand trial.

TAKING DOWN THE TOWER.

MACON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—In pursuance of an order of the county commissioners, the electric lights on top of the courthouses are being taken down. Today one of the lights was taken at the intersection of Mulberry and Second streets; one at intersection of Mulberry and Second streets, and one at the intersection of Mulberry and First streets. As soon as the lights are put up, the work of taking down the tower on the courthouse will begin.

Two Dollars to Savannah.

MACON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—The General Passenger Agent, Charlton, of the Central road, is trying to get a rate of two dollars from Macon to Savannah for Saturday night trains, and is offering to pay the extra cost of running, or if that is impracticable, then to have the return made on Monday trains. The East Tennessee may enter the plan and give like rates from Macon to Brunswick and return. The rates from Atlanta to Savannah or Brunswick and return will be three dollars.

To Arrive.

MACON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—Rev. Dr. A. F. Mason, of Boston, Mass., is expected to arrive in Macon today or tomorrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Mason are expected to accompany Dr. Mason to Macon.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Dillard, of Atlanta, and the Rev. Dr. C. C. Smith, of Macon, were also invited to the reunion.

SIDEWALK ECHOES.

A Few Things Caught on the Fly This Hot Summer's Day.

MACON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—A well known young man, of indomitable energy, is talking about going to Mexico and open up a cream business. There is said to be big money to be made in Mexico.

This is the third day session of the jury commissioners and in their revision of the jury box from the tax books, they have finished five districts.

An afternoon or two since a certain well known man, who we will call Jones, was in the room taking a bath with a gentleman friend, who shall be named in this article as Smith, entered to see him on a matter of business. Jones had not quite completed his toilet, and was still in his undershirt, when Smith, a student of Emory college, will speak at the Mulberry Street Methodist church next Sunday morning and evening. Dr. Candler is one of the leading divines of the Methodist ministry south, and there is said to be a large congregation to hear him on next Sabbath. The Emma Abbott-Candler episode is remembered by all our readers.

Large Land Owner.

MACON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—Rev. Dr. C. C. Slattery, of Opelika, and Miss Susan A. French, of this city, were married at noon today, in the contracting parties are now sixty years old.

The remains of Mrs. O. L. Peacock reached this city from Birmingham last night. Mrs. Peacock moved from near this city to Birmingham a few weeks ago. The deceased was prostrated when the terrible intelligence of her son's death reached her.

A Marriage and a Death.

COLUMBUS, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—Mrs. W. A. Shulman, of Eastman, is in the city. He is one of the leading lawyers in Georgia. His investments in lands late of very large.

He has bought 20,000 acres on the line of the Georgia Southern and Florida railroad and a few days since he purchased 800 acres in Dooly county. Mr. Shulman buys the land to work on the watermelons numerous large saw mills throughout the country.

Election of Officers.

MACON, Ga., August 9.—[Special.]—Lieutenant-Colonel C. M. Whey, commanding 2d Georgia Cavalry, has ordered an election to be held for captain of the Macon Volunteers and for adjutant and quartermaster of the commissary officers as may be convenient.

—A Hebrew Farmer—Other Items of Interest.

Cuthbert has a Hebrew farmer, an occupation rarely ever followed by that people. A Mr. Gillispie is the gentleman alluded to and he has been in Cuthbert over twenty years. He began business as a baker, arose to be one of the largest merchants in the place, and in this business came in possession of real estate. His farms are celebrated producing lands on Pumpkin creek, and are at a low estimate, worth $10,000. This year Mr. Gillispie has abandoned his mercantile business, and, as a result, he has one of the best crops, if not the best, in the county, at least such is the expression of those who have seen it. Mr. Gillispie, too, is prop and happy over the result, and disputes the idea that Jews can't make good farmers. He is delighted with it and intends following it closely. ***

A SOCIAL EVENT AT TATES.

Mrs. Alex Hopkins and Her Graceful Hospitality—A German in Her Honor.

From the Knoxville Journal.

The most pleasant social event of the season so far at Tate's Springs was a picnic last Friday afternoon, tendered the guests of the resort by Mrs. Alex Hopkins, a charming and very popular young bride, the daughter-in-law of Judge Hopkins, of Atlanta. Special invitations were sent to the social circle of Tate's, and on the evening of the party the following names illuminated the pages of the hotel register: Misses Katie Pumphrey, Rhoda King, Bessie Cage and Melinda F. H. Cling, E. S. Stanford, Charles King, John Rose, Phelan, John Brown. The favors for the german were ordered from Atlanta, and consisted of thirteen sets of very lifelike and novel articles. The evening room of the hotel has been set apart as a hall room and with its polished floor, well waxed, offers to the patrons of Terpsichore a delightful and ample area for the dashing of the feet. The hotel has the services of an exceptionally good orchestra, and with all conditions so favorable it need not be said that the german was a grand success. Mr. Frank Hoyle led and introduced the program, and the orchestra, consisting of the hotel's band and young men, constituted a large and interested audience, which overflowed from the space within not set apart for the dancers, and filled the windows and doors, eager to see the show.

The southern portion of Upson county is mountainous. There lived, years ago, an old man by the name of "Uncle Johnnie." He spent the major portion of his summers on these obscure hills. He possessed many peculiarities, and, being full of vim and economy, collected much of this world's goods. He was considered a wicked man, but possessed warm impulses; was a good neighbor and always ready and willing to serve his friends. In the evening of life, his head blossoming for the grave, he was joined with the horses of his burial under the earth. To avoid this, he sought one of the largest rocks in the country—125x175 yards in dimension—and had a tomb erected upon it. At the end of his journey his friends laid him away in this solitary sepulcher, but, unlike his Saviour, had no soldiers to watch by night, and yet he still remains unmolested. ***

George Walker, of Schley county, is experimenting in egg-plant culture this year, on rather an extensive scale. He has nearly three hundred plants, all of which are heavily fruited and growing vigorously. He sold nearly a buggy load yesterday at satisfactory prices, but thinks of shipping the remainder of his crop to Atlanta and Savannah, where better prices can be obtained. The egg-plant is one of the finest vegetables grown here, and its culture could be made a profitable business, if properly conducted. ***

The editor of the Leary Courier, it seems, has opened a matrimonial bureau, but it does not seem to be flourishing as yet, for in his last issue he says: "Applications for the hand and heart of Colonel Primus W. Jones are coming in very slow. We haven't received a single application yet. However, since last week we have added the names of John Henry Sinquefield, of Baker county, and Doc Melton and Guard Sasser, of Randolph. Our matrimonial bureau is intended to fill a long felt want, and its list of subjects is increasing. We think we know what the ladies need and our aim shall be to supply their wants. In a few weeks we expect to be able to guarantee fits, postals, etc., to be cheap." J. R. Tolleson, Secretary and Treasurer. ***

About Primary Elections.

It is the policy of the democratic party of this state to make its nominations by primary election, and the state executive committee has so put itself on record.

That this is the fairest, freest and most convenient method by which to test the sentiment of the voters there can be no doubt, and no other plan can be devised that will afford any less opportunity for illegal voting, and a properly conducted primary should be as fair as a regular election. The party has the perfect right to require that voters should take oath, if challenged, that in voting they do not violate any of the regulations governing an election, and if false swearing under such conditions cannot be punished by law, offenders would not escape public condemnation, and could be disqualifed from any future participation in party action. Such provision would insure practical freedom from fraud, and the probability of illegal voting would become infinitesimal.

It is with pleasure that THE CONSTITUTION records the fact that the two candidates for senator from this district have united in a request for the executive committee of the county to reconsider its action in refusing to call a primary election. Such a course reflects credit on both of the distinguished gentlemen, and will result in restoring harmony in the party. The democrats of the county want a fair and just election, and will be satisfied with nothing else. If the committee provides for such an election, as we now have no doubt that it will, all past differences will be forgotten and full credit will be given the committee for its action.

Chairman Culberson has called a meeting of the committee for this morning.

It is to be hoped that conservatism will prevail and that everything will be satisfactorily arranged. Mr. Culberson was prevented by sickness from being present at the last meeting, and we believe that had he been there his conservatism and good judgment would have steered the committee safely around the breakers on which it grounded. He will be present today, and will prove worthy of the trust which has been placed in him.

The speech of Editor Henry Richardson, nominating General Gordon in the state convention, is one of the most notable orations ever delivered in the capitol. It is brief, as such efforts go, but it covers the whole ground. It bristles with energy and enthusiasm, and is marked by the graces of a literary style that are too often lacking in the efforts of modern orators. In short, the speech is well nigh perfect of its kind.

A Indian Swindlers.

We believe that the time has come when the editors of the republican organs ought to hold a caucus and stand on a plan of operations. Here, for instance, is the New York Tribune abusing the democratic administration for its efforts to secure the signatures of the Sioux Indians to the proposed treaty, and it is engaged in making campaign material at a very rapid rate. It says that the commissioners who have the matter in charge are trying to bulldoze the Indians, and it goes into hysterics over the matter.

On the other hand, the Philadelphia Press thinks the treaty ought to be promptly signed, on the ground that it will be to the advantage of the Indians in every way.

Just how this may be we do not know, but this we do know, that the Indian policy of the government is neither republican nor democratic. It is American in its nature, and this means that the Indians are to be swindled and robbed wherever they show their heads.

The Sioux have some valuable lands that the white settlers covet, and for this reason they are called out to stand and deliver. We have no idea that the treaty they are now called on to sign is any worse than any other treaty, but even if it is better it is bad enough. The Indians are the legitimate victims of American enterprise and greed, and if they do not sign the treaty so as to be legally robbed their lands will be taken away from them without compensation.

We are nothing if not a nation of Indian swindlers.

It is believed that after awhile the Savannah News will become accustomed to Primus Jones's first hole of cotton.

A Broad Trust.

The latest thing in the way of combinations for squeezing the public is a flour trust. It is stated that the millers in all the winter wheat states are engaged in organizing a trust. When the organization is complete, it will be one among the few whip-saw trusts in the country, the cotton oil trust being another.

Those who control it propose to control not only the price of the flour they sell, but the price of the wheat they buy, thus hitting the farmers going and coming, and the people all around. They will have the power to reduce the output of any mill, or to shut it up.

It has been the habit of some of our esteemed contemporaries to hold the tariff responsible for all the trusts and combinations of capital, but here is a trust, the biggest and most dangerous of all, that has no relation to the tariff whatever. If the entire trust system were repealed tomorrow, the trust would still be in a position to go forward with its criminal combination and bid defiance to the people. We say criminal combination, for it must be manifest that any combination which is so imbued with the spirit of greed as to deliberately conspire to arbitrarily increase the cost to the people of this country of an important article of food is engaged in a criminal conspiracy that ought to be promptly checked by law.

There is nothing to prevent congress from dealing with such a trust—and yet there is everything. On a matter of theory, the great majority of congressmen can spout by the week; but when it comes to a matter of justice they are strangely silent. When the authors of the United States petition them for an opportunity to secure copyright in foreign countries, they refuse to give the proposition any hearing, and the people would probably be treated in the same manner if they besieged congress with petitions to deal with a combination organized to increase the price of bread.

And yet, after all, the people are competent to protect themselves. There is no reason that they cannot accomplish if they go about it in the right way.

THE NEW YORK SUN thinks that the Georgia term "tax tacker" is a "rich and juicy expression."

PREDICTIONS OF COOT WAVES are beginning to make their appearance along with the monsoons.

THESE IS ANOTHER epidemic of sudden deaths all over the country. Some are due to the weather, and others are the result of too much whisky.

THE NEW YORK TIMES charges a minister with saying that the Burmese sell their wives and daughters like sheep. Now, the fact is that in Burmese husbands and fathers do nothing of the sort. They are models of good behavior in their domestic relations.

IN CHICAGO, the other day, a drummer jumped on a man who harrased for Jeff Davis, knocked him down and beat him savagely. He told the crowd that he would strike any man who shouted for Jeff Davis. No doubt he knows who to strike.

ABDUCTED BY A GIRL.

Several days ago Oscar Moeller, a middle-aged, bald-headed man, was arrested for eloping with a wealthy young girl. At the time of the arrest the pair were on their way from Germany to this country.

Now comes the strange part of the story.

Moeller, instead of making a manly fight, has broken down and whiningly claims that he did not abduct the girl. On the contrary, he asserts that the giddy young heiress abducted him. It will not do for a bald-headed lover who has been caught running away with a young lady in her teens, to attempt to play Captain Jack Bunting to his victim's Mrs. MacStinger. Such a story is too ridiculous for belief.

In these days young maidens do not boldly capture hairless freaks in the shape of middle-aged men, and carry them over the seas to force them into matrimony. Moeller's explanation will not save him. His little dumpy wife will be sent back to Germany, and he will doubtless take the same trip in a pair of handcuffs.

ACCORDING TO ALL ACCOUNTS, Harrison will have to hustle if he carries Indiana, and he is not hustling much. Perhaps Brother Blaine is to be depended on to do the hustling.

An Interesting Case.

Some able lawyer should write a book defining the rights and duties of dogcatchers.

IN OUR large cities during the summer months the dog catchers are continually stirring up trouble. Some of them are incompetent and others do not care whether they break the law or not, so they succeed in filling the dog pound every day.

A case reported from Charleston this week deserves wide publicity, as it is likely to be quoted as a precedent. Dog-eater Richardson was brought before the recorder, charged with enticing Mr. Grinke's dog from his yard and taking it to the pound. The testimony was contradictory. Grinke said his dog seldom went into the street. The cook said she heard the dog-eater whistle, and a moment later saw him pull the animal through a hole under the gate. On the other hand, three witnesses swore that they saw the dog on the sidewalk, and saw the dog-eater come along and pick up the dog pound every day.

THE Driving Club.

EDITORS CONSTITUTION: Will you pardon me for giving you a day's notice for using enough of your space to express my opinion that a great deal too much is being made of the affairs of the Gentlemen's Driving club. I, for one, am very strongly of that opinion, and I assure that many others agree with me.

The Driving club is a private corporation—a close corporation at that—and its financial difficulties should concern only its members. If the club is to be blamed for the plan of the meet, it is to pay that the debt. The members of the Club Club, or any similar organization, would certainly consent to any assessment necessary to free the club from debt; and any outside interference would be strongly rebuked.

By inserting a small advertisement in a leading newspaper the trustees of the Albany Academy had applications from twenty-eight teachers, most of whom were recommended, and one recommended, from which to make their selection. Whether without the advertisement, they would doubtless take what applications were wanted or when the election would take place. Prompt action was therefore necessary; and so it was decided to advertise in THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, and the secretary was instructed accordingly. He immediately telephoned a four-line advertisement to THE CONSTITUTION, and the next day the paper contained a notice to the effect that there would be a meet on a certain date.

The Shelton and Howards building is a total wreck and their stock is all destroyed. The fire will be confined to the half of that structure.

On the south the fire reached A. Roseman's garden, a total wreck, involving a loss of $25,000. The Bradt printing company loses everything; their loss will reach $25,000. Other losses will run the total aggregate of losses up to over $100,000. There is probably $250,000 insurance on the buildings and stocks of the various parties burned out.

At 12:30 o'clock the fire is under control.

CATARRH!
A Dangerous Disease can be cured by the use of Canadian Catarrh Cure. A safe and reliable specific for Catarrh Hay fever, Sore Throat and "Cold in the Head". We ask you to read the following testimonial, and if not satisfactory write to the parties.
ATLANTA, July 15, 1888.

CANADIAN CATARRH CURE CO.—Gentlemen:
Several weeks ago, I called at your office, and you gave me a sample bottle of your medicine, and I had it with me for some time. I have used only the sample bottle you gave me, and it has completely cured me. I heartily recommend it to any one suffering with catarrh.
One small sample bottle has cured.

Yours truly,

CANADIAN CATARRH CURE CO., Atlanta, Ga.
Gentlemen: My sister, Maggie Peyton, was cured of a dangerous case of catarrh, in a very short time, by the use of your Canadian Catarrh Cure. I will send you all the details when given up.
Mr. Hutchison, druggist of this city, recommended the above medicine to me. I appeared in front of him with enthusiasm, many ladies requesting permission to shake his hand. Before delivering his lecture Mr. Wendling paid the Chautauqua a visit, and I was present.

"I would be untrue to my feelings if I failed on the occasion of my last appearance before you, to thank you for the great kindness with which you received me and my work on this platform. It would also be untrue to myself if I failed to add my hearty encouragement and congratulation to the managers of the Piedmont Chautauqua. I have seen every Chautauqua of any note on this continent, and in delivering it Mr. Wendling sustained himself as one of the foremost orators in the country. The people were Chautauqued for the purpose of having a study, a grand oration on this most noted model of southern warors and generals, and they were delighted with what they heard, the lecture surpassing even the highest expectations. When he had finished his speech, the audience burst into a roar of applause, many ladies requesting permission to shake his hand. Herr Hugo Turpe Last Night.

Herr Hugo Turpe played last night before the large audience. He was warmly received and was liberally applauded. He is a cornetist of great talent and has played in Germany and all over the continent and reaches the title which he has earned of "prince of cornet players." He made a deep impression last evening, his manner was dressed and technical ability, and those who heard him will readily bear testimony to the artistic features of his playing. Herr Turpe will be at Chautauqua several days yet and everybody should hear to be pleased.

The concert which these two distinguished artists will give at Chautauqua this afternoon at 4 o'clock is well worth the amount of admission. They have played all over the United States and their audiences by the thousand, frequently playing to ten thousand people. Their music is sweet, soft and harmonious, and their special pieces, some of which will be played this afternoon, are simply indescribable, and will have to be heard to be appreciated.

A Very Large Crowd—Rev. Sam Jones's Lecture—Hon. George Wendling on Stonewall Jackson—Programme.

The programme at Chautauqua today is as follows: Concert Goshen Band, 10:30. Lecture—Mr. Leon Vincent—"Carlyle," 11:30. Lecture—Mr. Leon Vincent—"Carlyle,"

Penclit. 1 p.m. Lecture—Lieutenant Frederick Schwatka.
The Poets of the Polar Star. Illustrated.

Yesterday was a day of great Chautauqua.

There was the largest crowd present since the opening, and everybody was delighted.

Rev. Sam Jones lectured at 11 o'clock on "Eaters and Eating."

The delay of four hours on the Georgia Pacific train from Birmingham prevented Lieutenant Schwatka from meeting his engagement in the afternoon, but he arrived at 7:30 o'clock last night and will certainly lecture today. The schedule of his train would have brought him to Chautauqua in time for his engagement, but the delay of four hours prevented him from meeting his engagement at the gates of the Chautauqua management.

It can hardly be said that the crowd regretted it, for a programme was improvised of music and recitations, bringing up the full force of the Goshen band, Vitale and Penclit, the wonderful comedian, and humorous and dramatic relations by Professor W. W. Carnes. With this programme the crowd was held for two hours with almost constant applause.

The Hon. George H. Wendling had just left the best defence Chautauqua has yet seen, and was making his appearance at Stonewall Jackson. It was a grand triumph, and in delivering it Mr. Wendling sustained himself as one of the foremost orators in the country. The people were Chautauqued for the purpose of having a study, a grand oration on this most noted model of southern warors and generals, and they were delighted with what they heard, the lecture surpassing even

Something About Her Excellent Fire Department.

How it is Organized—Other Interesting Facts
Chief Joyner Preparing to Attend the Convention at Minneapolis.

What is Atlanta's pride?

Her public schools, many will answer.

Her churches, her ornate and spacious public edifices, others will declare.

Many, very many will say: Atlanta's pride is her fire department. And they will speak truly, for it is now an acknowledged fact that Atlanta's fire department is not excelled by that of any other city in the United States. This seems an extravagant boast, yet it is true, for the fire insurance agents—the highest authorities, have recognized the fact. That Atlanta's fire department is not excelled by that of any other city in the United States, friends—cheerful and many other traits have won for you our highest respect, and will radiate light and warmth in your community.
